

SCHOLARSHIP LISTINGS for 2017-2018 School Year

All High School Seniors should be looking at the websites of the colleges they apply to. That is where you can get the information you need for the scholarships the colleges offer to incoming freshmen. Every college has a scholarship program. These scholarships range from a few hundred dollars to a full tuition/books/room and board package. Some require an application process, while others are automatic based on G.P.A. and ACT/SAT scores. If you have any questions, contact the university/college or talk to your high school counselor. Qualifying dates also vary. However, many colleges and universities require that a student applies by November 1st to be considered.

Students: Please look over these opportunities carefully. I do check the website and give it a quick once over, but that does not mean every opportunity is a good one. NEVER give out your social security number. Do not pay for the right to apply for a scholarship. Scams look good, that's why they work. If you have any concerns, share them with a counselor immediately.

Note the deadlines on these scholarships. I am adding the newest scholarship opportunities to the beginning of this document, and dropping scholarships as the deadlines pass. A hard copy is available by request. Ask at the counseling office. For the most recent additions to this list, refer to this link regularly.
